Hitachi Cable America, a leading manufacturer of premise and fiber optic communication cables for the telecommunications industry has appointed Tom Stone to Vice President of Sales for the Performance Cable Systems & Materials Division effective October 1, 2022.

In Tom Stone's new role, he will lead all sales initiatives and operations for the New Hampshire business which includes Premise, Fiber, Specialty, and Wireless. This move is in support to further align all sales efforts and customer initiatives.

Tom Artinian, Chief Operating Officer of HCA PCSM, stated "Over the past 2 years, Tom has been a key player to the sales organization by leading customer partnerships and alignment to the factory capabilities. He continues to work closely with product management, engineering, and production to ensure our customer demands are met. I am confident that in this expanded role, Tom will continue to lead our sales organization in support of the company growth initiatives."

With more than 20 years' experience servicing the electrical and wire & cable industries as both a distributor and a manufacturer, Tom has led complex business strategies with a focus on growth and execution. He will continue working closely with the leadership team to execute company growth objectives with a focus on customer relationships.

"I am grateful for my expanded role at HCA and getting further engrained in our entire business. As we progress through our transformation, we are headed towards a very bright future for our organization while strengthening our ability to support our tremendous HCA team and valued customer base. We are growing stronger through these challenging times, and I look forward to the opportunity that the future holds," said Tom Stone.
